"I am distinctly in favor of what the Secretary of War has done so far," he said.

Boys who were under weight and suffering from malnutrition were selected and their condition at the end of the three months' test will determine the success of the experiment. The photo shows three of the "Food Scouts" tackling their first "regular eats" in one of the schools.

Are Advised by Naval Authorities that Ship Is Sinking.

Reports Announce Vessel was Rammed in Collision.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
An Atlantic Port, Jan. 14.—Agents of the American Steamship Texan, a vessel of 14,000 tons today received advices from naval authorities that she was sinking at sea. The location of the ship was not given. The naval authorities did not state the cause of the Texan's distress but reports reaching shipping circles here from other sources were that she had been rammed amidship in collision with another ship.

GOOD-BYE LAST MESSAGE

It was said a steamer had picked up the Texan's S. O. S. calls was hurrying to her assistance and that the crew of 43 had taken to the boats. The Texan left here recently with a cargo bound for a French port. Messages reaching here from another port said that a steamer arriving there reported she had picked up an S. O. S. from the Texan reporting she was sinking. The last message said: "Good-bye. No more." Indirect information reaching the Navy Department said the Texan had been in collision with another ship which had gone to the rescue. So far as known no lives were lost.

NEVILLE WILL COMMAND THE ARMY IN ALGIERS

General Robert George Neville, of the French Army, has been appointed to command the army serving in Algiers. It is said the appointment is the commencement of reparation to the General for the discredit into which he fell as a result of the April offensive launched against the Germans on a twenty-five mile front between Soissons and Rheims. Although big gains were made by the French troops, many charges were made that the French had paid too dearly for the enterprise. General Neville was relieved as commander-in-chief about a month later and was replaced by General Petain.

CONTEMPT CHARGE AGAINST U. S. JUDGE

Washington, January 14.—Contempt proceedings were instituted in Supreme Court today against Federal Judge John M. Killits, of the District Court of Northern Ohio, by Attorney General Gregory, charging him with suspending execution of judgment indefinitely against a bank embezzler in violation of the Supreme Court's specific orders. ### THE VALIDITY OF R. R. BILL IS QUESTIONED

Doubts on Big Subject.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Washington, January 14.—The validity of the proposal in the administration railroad bill to appropriate $500,000,000 to carry on government railroad control was questioned before the Senate Inter-State Commerce committee by Senator Underwood, as well as some other members of the committee.

German Military and Political Leaders Hurry To Berlin for Important Conferences. Foreign Minister Trotzky is Losing Popularity in Petrograd Because of the Way he Has Handled the Peace Negotiations.

Crown Prince, Von Hindenburg and Ludendorff Hurried to Berlin to Confer With Emperor William. Trotzky's Propaganda Spreads Among German Soldiers.

Berlin and the Military Leaders are Alarmed at the Rapidly Developing Menace of Socialism in Army and Civil Life. Von Hurling to Address the Reichstag, Answering Wilson and Lloyd George.

(By Associated Press Dispatch)

Russo-German peace negotiations apparently have again been broken off temporarily and the possibility of a final breach is not unlooked for in Petrograd. The armistice on the eastern front has been extended to February 18. It is expected the conferences will be resumed at Warsaw.

The Bolshevik premier is again back in Petrograd and is reported to be taking a more important part in the negotiations. There is some dissatisfaction in Petrograd with the way in which former Minister Trotzky has conducted negotiations. His campaign of propaganda among the German soldiers is said to be growing in effect and the military authorities of Germany are doing all they can to check it.

Meanwhile German political and military leaders have been having hurried conferences in Berlin. The Crown Prince has returned to the German capital and he, with Field Marshal von Hindenburg, General von Ludendorff and Chancellor von Hurling have conferred with the Emperor. The conferences were of a most important nature, a dispatch from Amsterdam says today.

The recall by the Emperor of the assistant to the German foreign secretary at the peace negotiations indicates that the conferences may have had to do with the peace negotiations, the conduct of which has caused much political furor in Germany during the past two weeks.

Chancellor von Hurling expected to address the main committee of the Reichstag Wednesday and probably will answer the recent statements of President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George.

RUSSIAN ADMIRALS ARE LYNCHED

The basin of the Don river has been cleared of Cossack troops by the Bolsheviks, according to official announcement. Russian sailors in Sebastopol are reported to have killed and lynched more than 62 of their officers, including four admirals.

PATROL ENCOUNTERS NUMEROUS

Patrol encounters at several points and artillery activities are reported from the British front.

On the French front the artillery fire has been violent. Engagements between patrols in the mountain zones along the Piave marks the situation on the Italian front.

Ambassador Francis in a New Year's message to the Russian people reminds them that a separate peace with Germany would rob them of the results of the revolution.

President Wilson's message is greeted with divided opinion by Bolshevik newspapers.

BRITISH LOSSES

Casualties in the British army reported for the week ending today exceeded by nearly 7,000 the total reported in the previous week when the figures took an upward jump virtually doubling the casualties of the preceding week.

A week ago the total was 18,998 including 561 officers and men killed, while the total for the preceding week was 9,951.

CRISIS GRAVE

(By Associated Press Cable)
London, January 14.—It is apparent that the conferences of military and political leaders now taking place at Berlin are regarded as an effort to obtain some sort of agreement between the German main parties as to war aims.

WILL REQUISITION ALL SAIL VESSELS

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Washington, January 14.—Requisitioning of all American sailing vessels was forecast today when the shipping board requested the Department of Commerce to report the notation of such vessels.

RETURNS TO HOUSE VOTES FOR SUFFRAGE

Representative James R. Mann, of Illinois, put in an unexpected appearance in the House during the recent Suffrage fight, in time to cast his vote for the Suffrage Amendment, which barely got through by the narrow margin of 274 to 136. It was the first time Mr. Mann had been on the floor since September, when he was taken ill. When the members saw the veteran Republican leader walk slowly down the aisle to his seat they burst into cheers and pounded their desks for several minutes. Speaker Clark rapped for order and said: "I observe that we are all glad to have Brother Mann back once more."

CHICAGO MEN AND BOYS DIG OUT OF SNOW

Steam Railroad Lines Resume
Limited Traffic.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Chicago, Jan. 14.—An army of workers estimated at more than 100,000 including 60,000 school boys today resumed the attack on the great snow drifts which tied up railroad traffic in this city and vicinity and caused what the health authorities termed an alarming shortage of fuel and milk. Everyone of the 27 steam lines entering Chicago resumed limited service today.

COAL FAMINE SEVERE IN N. Y.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
New York, Jan. 14.—The state fuel administration today said the fuel supply received was the smallest since the famine began and unless there is marked increase in delivery New York will have to face partial disruption of industrial activities.

TRAFFIC IS BADLY "SHOT TO PIECES"

Not Since Memorable 1913 Flood Has Community Been So Isolated as at Present Time.

Railroads and Highways Blocked by Huge Drifts Piled Up by Veritable Gale of Saturday.

Not since the great flood of March, 1913 has traffic been so disarranged as at the present time, and it will probably be a day or two before the huge drifts are removed from the railroads and anything like schedules are maintained.

And the highways of the county will be blocked in some places for several days to come unless a host of volunteers with shovels open the thoroughfares to traffic, as many already have done along the most important roads of the county.

On the B. & O. railroad the morning newspaper train from Cincinnati was annulled both Sunday and Monday, and no Cincinnati papers had reached the city since Saturday, up until two o'clock Monday afternoon, while other trains that were able to move on the B. & O. were many hours behind time.

The west bound services has been better than the east bound and on Saturday, Sunday and Monday the freight traffic on virtually all roads was either entirely suspended or far below normal. Dead engines are plentiful on all roads, due to the intense cold of Saturday and Sunday. Sunday about the noon hour a New York Central passenger train passed through this city headed west.

On the D. T. & I. virtually all business was suspended after Saturday morning, and will be renewed Tuesday. Monday was spent in clearing away drifts from three to ten feet in height.

While trains have been late on the Pennsylvania, and freight traffic has been light, the road has probably maintained better service than the other roads touching the city.

Not only has the mail service been seriously interrupted on the railroads, but rural carriers have not been able to make full deliveries since last Friday, and most of the local carriers again turned back after making only a very limited part of their routes.

In some instances drifts along the fences are so high and frozen so hard that live stock has deliberately walked over top of the fences.

Saturday was a record breaking day in this city insofar as lack of business was concerned, few people venturing up town even from points only a few squares distant.

PIPE CONNECTIONS TO KEROSENE TANK BREAK THIS A. M.

The breaking of a service pipe connection at the plant of The Columbus Oil Co. in this city, early this morning allowed several hundred gallons of kerosene to escape and flow in Paint Creek. The extreme freezing and thawing of the past several weeks caused a pumping house through which the service pipe passes to settle taking the pipe down with it and breaking the connection. Great effort was made by Manager Smith to stop the leak thus preventing further loss. The big storage tank has a capacity of about 13,000 gallons, and would have been filled today from a car of kerosene now on the siding.

48 PASSENGERS ON B. & O. TRAIN DURING BLIZZARD

Double-header on the Wellston Branch of B. & O. Sticks in Huge Drift This Side of Millledgeville, Saturday Evening, and Passengers Remain All Night.

Forty-eight passengers on the east-bound "morning" passenger train on the Wellston Division of the B. & O. Railroad were forced to remain in the stranded train one mile this side of Millledgeville from about 6 o'clock Saturday evening until early Sunday morning, when help was summoned and the passengers were taken to Millledgeville where the citizens threw open their homes, gave them breakfast and dinner, and they were able to reach this city at five o'clock Sunday evening.

The train which stuck in a drift almost as high as the engines was the belated morning train, due in this city at 9:00 a. m., and for which passengers waited in Millledgeville and other points until late Saturday evening.

With the two engines the train crew hoped to plow through any drifts that might be encountered, but at the Fichthorn cut this side of Millledgeville, where earlier in the day the west bound train had passed in safety a drift nearly nearly as high as the engines was struck, and the engineers thought they could plow through, but after ramming the blockade with all power, the engines came to a sudden stop, and could not be moved in either direction.

When the train crew realized their predicament, they called for a volunteer to go to Millledgeville and call for a relief train. The wind was blowing a gale and the mercury hovered 10 to 12 below zero, making the task a most difficult one indeed.

The engineer announced that owing to lack of water steam could not be maintained for longer than ten o'clock so a husky young man volunteered to make the trip to Millledgeville. He was literally loaded down with wraps and carried two lanterns. He made the trip of one mile in 1½ hours, and lost one lantern, while the other was extinguished by the wind.

He called Dayton for assistance, and the B. & O. officials at that point started a relief train with two engines. This train was derailed and word sent that relief was not possible before six o'clock the following morning and authorized any expense necessary to relieve the stranded passengers.

In the mean time when the fire was pulled from the engines to prevent them blowing up because of no water, the 48 passengers flocked into the mail coach, where standing room was at a premium, and where a small stove warmed the small space available. In this manner, by taking their turns in the warm mail coach and then walking back and forth in the other coaches, the passengers spent the night.

By daylight next morning W. L. Smith, of Millledgeville, reached a near by farmhouse and called for help. Soon hobblers with robes and blankets were on the way to the stranded train, and arrangements had been made with Millledgeville citizens to feed the passengers. At eight o'clock all passengers had been transferred to Millledgeville where hot breakfast awaited them. Most of them spent several hours at the Bank which was opened by Mr. Smith.

Relief reached the stranded train Sunday afternoon and the dead engines were pulled out and the coaches placed on the siding at Millledgeville, after which the passengers were brought to this city and points east.

YAQUI UPRISING STILL SPREADING

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Hermosillo, Son., Mex., Jan. 14.—The Yaqui Indian has been the trouble maker of northwestern Mexico for generations and his recent outbreak is but one of a large number which have occurred during the administrations of Diaz, Madero and other leaders.

Starting with the Bronco Yaquis along the Rio Yaqui in southwestern Sonora early in September, the revolt has spread to many of the allied tribes, including the Monchos Yaqui who have been peaceful in the past and who derived their names from the fact they worked with their hands.

In the rich Yaqui River Valley, of Southwestern Sonora the Indian uprising has had its center. The Indian towns of Potam, Vacum, Bacum, La Colorado and Sauqui Grande have been scenes of various Indian raids and Mexican federal troops have been unable to make any great headway in conquering these warring tribesmen. The revolt reached its height after the fall harvest of corn, beans and garbanzo had been harvested. Storehouses where these crops were put away for the winter were looted and the Indians extended their field of operations far into the north toward Hermosillo, the capital. Ammunition and rifles were smuggled across the Sonora border for them and a number of engagements fought between the Yaquis and the federals resulted in the routing of the government troops.

The basic cause of the unrest among these northwestern Mexico Indians is the land problem. At one time these Indians owned and tilled thousands of acres of the most fertile land in the republic which was watered by the Yaqui River. These lands were gradually confiscated by the various governments and parceled out to favorites of the ruling powers. The Indians claim they were given inferior lands in place of their original holdings and insist upon the restoration of these tribal holdings. One American company now controls 300,000 acres of land in the Yaqui country much of which is claimed by the Indians.

Baker Is Right

The vigorous and, in some instances, vicious, cross examination to which Secretary of War Baker was subjected by the members of the Senate Military Committee on Saturday, brought some appreciable results.

The full statement issued some days ago by the Secretary of War that the United States already had a "substantial" army in France; that that army was "ready" and giving some of the details proving just how much we have done and how well, everything considered, the work has been accomplished, seems to have aroused the ire of some members of the committee. Senator Chamberlain seemed to be particularly incensed and caustically upbraid Secretary Baker for making those statements, suggesting that he would make the people feel too secure.

The prompt response of the Secretary of War was that he believed the people had a right to know the facts and to feel secure.

Most every American citizen agrees with Secretary Baker's view.

Why not? Why can't the American people be safely told the facts, at least about what has been done?

They are not children who must be continually kept in the dark and constantly told frightful tales about the dangers of the dark in order to make them good.

The American people are brave men and women, intelligent and patriotic. They know their duty, have the courage to face the facts and deal with them as they require to be dealt with. They are brave enough to accept the bad news, and they are old enough and well balanced enough not to be "spoiled" by a little good news.

Some of our senators and representatives in Congress are a little difficult to understand.

Secretary Baker has had a tremendous problem to handle. He has worked quietly and we believe effectively. That he has made mistakes may be conceded but that he is right—absolutely right—when he says the American people are entitled to know, some of the things at least, which have been done, admits of no question.

A Real Blizzard

The terrible storm which has just swept over the great Mississippi valley section, using that term in its broadest and most comprehensive sense, as referring to all that vast domain which drains into the great river, is almost without precedent in the history of the weather bureau.

There have been "spells of weather" in many sections of the great valley, when the temperature has registered lower in small areas, but it is unlikely that, ever before, has the great storm which began, in this immediate vicinity, Friday evening, been surpassed, or even rivaled, in the severity of the gales which accompanied the low temperature or in the wide expanse which it locked in its icy embrace.

From the Rocky Mountains to the Allegheny Mountains and from Canada to, and beyond, the Rio Grande river the great blizzard raged, monarch of all.

For more than forty-eight hours man was driven from active business pursuits, factories, stores, were closed and steam and electric railroad traffic was paralyzed. All the busy millions residing in the great basin between the mountain ranges were compelled to abandon every pursuit save that of saving their own lives from the fury of the storm.

Washington and Fayette county have never experienced so violent a storm, although records show that the thermometer has registered a lower temperature than it did, at any time, during the storm of Saturday and Sunday.

It was the severe gales making it impossible to keep the cold out of houses which literally drove the zero temperature through every crack and crevice, searching out the weak places in our habitations that no previous assault by the wintry blasts had located.

Added to the attack of the elements was the fuel shortage in many sections. Combined with the unprecedented violence of the storm the fact that people were unprepared to fight back, as in other years, with other blizzards, added to the paralyzing inconvenience and suffering.

The snow which was generally in all probability, aided materially in protecting the crops and plants.

But the living things, men and beasts, have had an experience, which, let us hope, they will be able to look back to and refer to, in the years to come, when they have taken their place as the old citizens, as the great storm of the winter of '17 and '18. Certainly the coming generations, if they appreciate what this storm has really been, will not be ambitious to equal or surpass, in their own experience, the tales which those who have passed through this storm can narrate.

May it stand as the record for years to come.

Poetry For Today

THE HERITAGE.

When a man strikes out, as a man must do,
For a goal that is worth the winning,
He may turn for strength to the Strength that grew
Long, long, ere his day's beginning—
When the floods rolled back from the formless clay,
When the new-shaped man in the Garden lay,
That Strength took life for a sometime day,
Foreshadowed by Adam's sinning!
And the Strength increased to a mighty Power,
As ages followed on ages,
It swept to the hearts that refused to cower,
It wrote upon human pages,
The hope of the race, growing full and fine,
Has earned through its labor a wreath
divine—
The mighty Strength that is yours and mine,
In common with seers and sages!
For they who resisted and strove
with ill,
Thought lost to their generation,
Have built up a fabric of heart and will,
The Soul of a mighty nation!
They add their torch to the soaring fire
On Time's grim altars, where high and higher
Shall rise the glow of our sure desire—
Strength—for our day and station.

PASSENGER TRAFFIC
IN GERMAN EMPIRE

(Associated Press Cable.)

Amsterdam, Netherlands, January 12.—Passenger traffic revenues on German railroads in the third war year show an increase of 5.3 per cent over the record figure of the last twelve months of peace (August, 1913 July, 1914), according to the NORD-DEUTSCHE ALLGEMEINE ZEITUNG. In the first war year revenues fell off 32.1 per cent, and in the second war year 21 per cent. As regards freight traffic, this yielded an increase of 8 per cent on the record figures reached in the year ending July 31, 1914. These figures include the receipts from military traffic, which, it is declared, taking the average of the three years, formed only an eighth part of the total railroad income.

The revenues for the month of August, 1917, are specially quoted as showing the development of railroad traffic. Compared with the corresponding month of 1916, the passenger traffic showed an advance of 30.6 per cent, and of 14.1 per cent as compared with August, 1913, the last corresponding month of peace. Freight traffic rose 11.6 per cent as compared with August, 1916, and 19.1 per cent as against 1913.

A Vienna dispatch says the revenues of the Austrian State railroads have risen since the last peace year from 830,000,000 crowns to 1,080,000,000 while expenditures for the current financial year is put at 1,190,000,000 crowns.

A wedding took place in Covington, Ky. Monday afternoon which will be learned of with no small interest by many friends of the charming bride, Miss Faye Williams, daughter of the well known contractor, Mr. J. S. Williams and Mrs. Williams.

The bridegroom is Mr. Leroy P. Armstrong, a young railroad man of Columbus.

The young couple were accompanied to Cincinnati by the bride's father and brother, Mr. Maurice Williams, leaving on the Monday morning Pennsylvania train. A cousin, Mr. Earl Black, of Cincinnati met them and witnessed the ceremony.

The bride was wearing a handsome tailored suit of navy blue chiffon broadcloth singularly becoming to her fair type. Her costume was completed with smart velvet hat white shoes, gloves and Fox furs. She is an unusually sweet, lovely girl, who will be greatly missed both in the home and outside circles.

For the past two years Miss Williams was at the head of the ribbon and pattern department of Craig Brother's store and adds a large business acquaintance to the number of friends who are extending best wishes.

The bride was dressed in a beautiful gown of gray georgette crepe made in French style, trimmed in gold, with large hat of purple velvet.

Miss Nelle McCarty returned to her home in Delaware, Monday, after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Morris Baker.

Messrs. Wert Shoop and James Hagerty, who have been attending the leather convention in Chicago, started home Saturday afternoon, but were snow bound several miles out, in the blizzard which has the "Windy City" again in its grasp. They wired that extra engines pulled the train back to the city, where they will be detained until the tracks are cleared.

Miss Ruth Baker, of Cincinnati, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Sharp-Davies, and brother, Mr. Morris Baker, and wife.

ATTORNEY HELD FOR OBSTRUCTING THE DRAFT LAW

Chillicothe, O., January 14.—With the arrest here of Frank Coleman, a Lorain attorney, military authorities believe they have uncovered one of the most daring plots yet unearthed to obstruct the operation of the selective draft act. Coleman, who is about 50 years old, was arrested under spectacular circumstances at a Chillicothe hotel by Lieutenant R. E. Flora, Chillicothe provost marshal.

Examination of his effects, including letters and papers in a suitcase, revealed 70 affidavits from select of the Eighty-third Division who sought to be exempted on the grounds of being enemy aliens. Most of them were Austrians from Middletown, Bellaire, Cleveland, Lorain and Trumbull counties.

Questioning of Coleman showed that he had offered to secure exemptions for the aliens upon payment of $135, his standard price.

BOARD PRESIDENTS CALLED TO MEETING WEDNESDAY MORNING

Following a ruling from the Attorney General in which the legality of the action of presidents of rural and village boards of education in electing members of the County Board of Education at any other time than between the first Monday and third Saturday in January was questioned, the presidents of the township and village boards of Fayette county have been notified to appear for a meeting at the County Superintendent's office, on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock for the purpose of taking some action in the matter.

The presidents of the old boards last August named T. T. Beatty to succeed W. W. Wilson as member of the County Board, and it is understood they will be asked to ratify the action of the old board presidents in order that there may be no question as to legality of the election of Mr. Beatty.

Similar action is being or has been taken in other counties, the action of the presidents of boards last year being ratified by the new presidents.

It is estimated that there are between 30,000 and 35,000 class rooms in public schools in Ohio. Colleges, universities and private schools may be urged to take part in the movement, designed to stimulate interest of pupils in work of the Red Cross.

MUSICIAN IS INTERNED AT OGLETHORPE

Dr. Ernst Kunwald, former director of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, was taken Sunday night from Cincinnati, by a detail of Ft. Thomas soldiers, to Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga., for internment for the period of the war.

He was surrendered after instructions received by United States Marshal Michael Devaney from Washington directing him to rearrest Dr. Kunwald.

Mrs. Kunwald met the officers at the door, telling them that Dr. Kunwald was ill and a physician had been summoned. She became hysterical in pleading with the officers not to take her husband away.

Dr. Kunwald made the statement that as an Austrian Army officer and "loyal subject of his beloved Emperor" he had no complaint or criticism to make of his arrest, but, as an American guest-conductor he thought it was the greatest disgrace that had ever happened to musical circles of Cincinnati.

He suggested that the action of the government was the result of jealousy because he had made "such a success as conductor of the Symphony Orchestra."

Mrs. George H. Hitchcock and son were in the station when Dr. Kunwald was taken through to the train by his official detail. There was no demonstration of any kind, either expressing sympathy or otherwise.

INSANITY DECREASES CRIME ON INCREASE IN BUCKEYE STATE

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., January 14.—Insanity is on the decline in Ohio, while crime is on the increase. The last six months of the year 1917 reduced the population of the eight state hospitals for the insane 86 while during the same time the population of the five penal institutes was increased more than 500.

In the instance of insanity, the condition has been just reverse of what was expected by experts and what has actually occurred in other countries since the war began. In other states and countries, it has been noticed that with excitement and worry due to the war, insanity has increased. Managing officers of the institutions in Ohio claim, too, that a much better showing could have been made were it not for the confinement of many non-resident persons in the institutions, to which a stop was put recently. Most of the non-residents are negroes who came from the South in the last year.

In no other six months' period has the population of penal institutes grown as in the period just closed, it is claimed. These increases, too, are in face of very liberal granting of paroles and pardons during the last few months.

FIRST FAYETTE COUNTY SOLDIER DIES IN FRANCE

Clarence P. Downer, Son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Downer, of White Oak, Madison Township, Claimed by Pneumonia and Is Buried in France—Member of Company M.

Clarence P. Downer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Downer, of White Oak—little village in Madison township in the extreme north portion of Fayette county, is the first Fayette county man to lay down his life in France in the cause of Liberty for all mankind. Death was due to pneumonia. The dead man was a member of Company M and is the first man of the company to succumb on French soil.

When the call for volunteers came young Downer was among the splendid young men of the county who responded and enlisted with Company M. He passed the physical examinations and speedily mastered the manual of arms and was classed as an exceptionally good soldier.

The young man had been ill for some time, and all treatment failed to bring relief from the deadly clutches of the disease.

First intimation of the death of Mr. Downer was received in the official communication from the War Department which bore the brief information that his death was due to pneumonia, and the date of his death was not given, but is supposed to have been Friday of last week.

In accordance with the custom at the present time the young man was buried "somewhere in France" and his resting place marked so that the body may be returned to the United States at some future time, and interment made in the little cemetery at White Oak.

Among his comrades and to his friends generally Downer was known as "Rink" Downer, and had spent most of his life on the farm, although residing in the village of White Oak.

Besides the father and mother, to whom every heart turns in profound sympathy, the deceased leaves a sister, May, at home, and a brother, James, of Columbus.

Only a few of the members of Company M have been ill since reaching France, so far as known.

HOW ITALY PROTECTS HER ART TREASURES

(Associated Press Correspondence)

London, December 30.—The work of the Italian authorities in preserving Italy's art treasures against bombardment was described by Major Sir P. de Filippi in a lecture before the Royal Academy here recently.

"Italy has been alive to her responsibilities for the art of which she is the guardian," said the lecturer, "and has spared nothing in her endeavor to protect her cities and their treasures. In Venetian, Lombardian and Tuscan towns I saw whole buildings wrapped up. Outdoor monuments are often completely enclosed in what looks like the dog-kennels. In many cases new masonry has been put in to strengthen historic structures, and elaborate systems of drainage have been installed to further reinforce the natural strength of the buildings.

"Bags of seaweed, very light and elastic, have been extensively and successfully used in Venice for St. Mark's and other buildings. Bronzes, pictures and small monuments, have been removed in colossal packing cases and taken to places of security. The buildings themselves have been sand-bagged without and within, and every monument or architectural masterpiece separately shrouded.

"Venice has presented a difficult problem because of the soft soil on which it is built, making heavy masonry protection often impossible. One of the most difficult pieces of protective work done was the removal of Titian's great Assumption, a part of the wall of the Accademia having to be taken down to get it out.

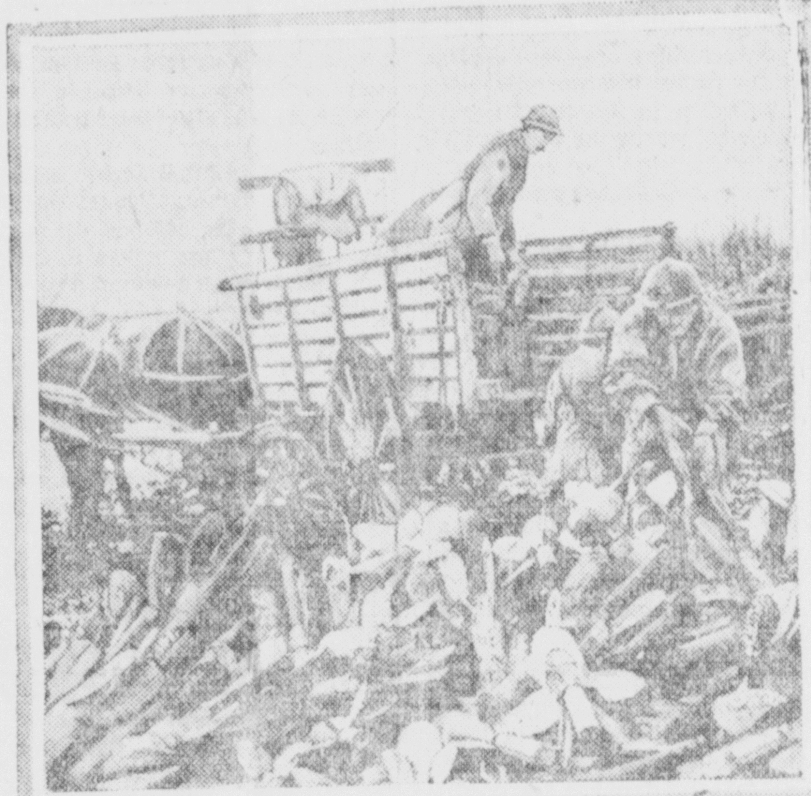

"Four hundred bombs have thus far been dropped in Venice by enemy aircraft. That the number is not much larger is due to the superb defensive work of the Italian airmen."

MANY POLES DOWN RESULT OF STORM

Twenty-five of the Ohio State Telephone Company's poles on the Chillicothe pike were blown down by the gale that struck the county Friday night. Telephone communication was interrupted between this city and Chillicothe over the Ohio State Telephone Company's wire for a time.

At an early hour the company's linemen were busy re-establishing the service. Two of the linemen had their faces badly frosted.

DREAM OF IT! FLOWERS BLOOMING

A letter from Mrs. B. F. Leland, Jr., of Boise, Idaho, written to a friend in this city, states that the pansies, snapdragons, chrysanthemums and other flowers are in blossom, the grass is green and early garden produce is showing up splendidly, while as she wrote, a boy, hatless, coatless and barefooted, was racing down the street.

The letter was written during the last days of December.

MUST USE CARE IN SENDING MAIL

(Associated Press Correspondence)

London, December 31.—Americans who write letters to friends abroad should take special pains to address the letters adequately. If an exact address cannot be obtained, and it is necessary for any reason to address the letter "care of the American Embassy, in London," all possible details regarding the person addressed should be given on the face of the envelope for the assistance of the Embassy authorities.

There are now lying at the American Embassy here hundreds of letters, which have been addressed casually "care American Embassy" and which the Embassy officials have no way of delivering. If the senders had even indicated whether the person addressed was in the army, the navy, the aviation corps, or the nature of his business in London, there might have been a chance of the letter finding its way, but without any such particulars, the likelihood of its reaching its destination are rather remote.

Some people at home seem to think that the American Embassy in London is a small compact office where is kept a card index of all Americans abroad. As a matter of fact, the American Embassy in London has expanded since the war until it occupies a half-dozen scattered buildings, and employs several hundred clerks and secretaries. Americans who call at the Embassy usually have business with only one department and the clerks who have charge of the casual mail are extremely unlikely to hear their names.

COAL PRODUCTION IN OHIO STRIKES NEW RECORD MARK

(By Associated Press Dispatch)

Columbus, O., January 12.—The year ending December 31, 1917 was the greatest in the history of the coal trade of Ohio, according to a special report which has been made by L. D. Devore, chief deputy and safety commissioner of mines with the state industrial commission. All previous records for both production and the amount of wages paid to miners were broken, the report stated. Had not the car shortage interfered, the results would have been greater.

"Not for years," says the report, "has there been such a scarcity of railroad cars reported, upon which the coal industry depends so much to move the tonnage. All mining districts reported the tonnage to have been from 25 to 30 percent less due to this cause. Abnormal industrial conditions and the priority act are held responsible for the shortage. The Eastern Ohio district suffered to a greater extent than the Hocking valley did in this regard. The lake shipments exceeded all other years in point of tonnage, and has furnished a ready market regardless of quality.

"The close of the old year and the coal industry in a very unsettled and unsatisfactory condition, and while government control of the railroads is expected eventually to clarify this situation, it will take both time and patience to rectify them."

The report pointed out that during the first part of 1917 there was a scarcity of labor and that this condition was not changed until the price of labor was increased from $3.60 to $5.00 a day. The time reported worked in the various mining districts varies from 60 to 75 per cent. The greatest loss of time occurred in November and December when the car situation became acute. This condition, the report states, still prevails.

Reports from the twelve mining districts of the state show that many new mines were opened in 1917. With government control of the railroads, Mr. Devore predicts in his report that 1918 will be the greatest year in the history of the coal industry in Ohio.

EXPERT COMING TO MAKE MANY TESTS OF FAYETTE CORN

Ohio Agricultural College Sending Man to This and Other Counties to Make Thorough Test of Corn for Seed—Farmers Urged to Make Tests.

Horace Kidd, an expert from the Ohio College of Agriculture has been delegated to this county, Greene and Clinton counties, to obtain samples of corn from various districts for the purpose of making a thorough test so that warnings may be issued wherever necessary to prevent farmers from planting seed corn next spring that will not germinate, and that may result in serious shortage to the crop if not given proper tests before planting.

Mr. Kidd will obtain two kernels each from 50 ears of corn selected from 20 to 30 farms in this and the other two counties. These kernels will be taken back to the agricultural college where fair tests will be made and reports issued as to the results. In this manner it is hoped to reach some definite conclusion as to whether the seed corn will germinate, and just how serious the damage is.

The tests will be made by W. H. Hanger, extension crop specialist, and when the results are ascertained steps will be taken to aid the farmers in the districts where the corn has been seriously damaged by cold weather and the presence of too much moisture.

Farmers throughout the county will watch the result of the tests, and will then take steps to guard against planting corn that will not germinate. At ready some of the leading farmers who have made tests and found their corn in bad condition have purchased seed corn, paying as high as $10 per bushel, and the farmers who find their corn in good condition should immediately take steps to retain an adequate supply of seed for themselves and their neighbors, for top prices will prevail, according to present indications.

OBITUARY OF HENRY LARKINS.

Henry Larkins, son of Thomas and Fannie Larkins, was born in Fayette County, Ohio, June 24th, 1897 and departed this life January 5th, 1918, aged 20 years, 6 months, and 12 days.

He was the third born of five children, of whom the other four still survive.

Soldier, sleep! thy warfare o'er. Sleep the sleep that knows no waking.

Dream of battle fields no more.

Days of danger, nights of waking.

Muffle a drum for a hero has fallen.

Drape the colors for a defender has dropped from the ranks.

Guard well the tent, for a soldier sleeps.

On September 2nd, 1915 he was married to Miss Viola Osborn, of Fayette county. One child, Bernice May, aged 7 months, was born to this union.

At a very early age in life, he united with the M. E. church at Sugar Grove, under the pastorate of the Rev. Hughes, and during the revival at White Oak Grove, Methodist Protestant Church, conducted by the Rev. Schwenk, in 1913, he renewed his obligations to his God and removed his membership to this church of which he has been a member since.

Some five or six weeks ago, he enlisted in the service of his country, having enlisted in the Aviation Signal Corps, and was given a clerkship.

He was sent from Columbus to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, on December 1, 1917. At this latter place he contracted ed measles which with pneumonia made his stay with us short. Only those who have had a like experience can truly sympathize with these loved ones, when the message was brought to them on Sunday evening, January 6th, 1918, telling them of the departure of this loved one.

Dangers stand thick through all the ground.

To push us to the tomb;

And fierce diseases wait around

To hurry mortals home.

The deceased leaves father, mother, two brothers, two sisters, this young wife and little child, together with a host of other relatives and friends to mourn their loss. He was always thoughtful for those around him, and he found that true happiness by making those around him to feel happy.

Dear Father, thou hast left us.

Great is our loss, we feel.

But let us trust in Jesus.

Who will our sorrow heal.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us in the death of our dear son and also for the beautiful flowers and also Miss Cockerill for the singing and the pastor for his comforting words.

MR. AND MRS. LARKYNS,

AND WIDOW.

WOOD BURNING IS ON INCREASE

The burning of wood is on the increase in Fayette county, particularly among the farmers, who realize the seriousness of the coal shortage, and believe that the time has come for doing their part, wherever possible, in an effort to conserve the fuel supply until the situation becomes better, which is not expected before next spring.

The Fuel Administrator holds out little hope of an adequate supply of coal during the winter, or at least until the very late weeks of the winter, and is urging every possible effort to conserve the supply as much as possible.

Not only has wood burning become more general on the farm, where it can usually be obtained, but in this city also the demand for wood is on the increase, and scores of persons are using wood for fuel instead of coal or the rather uncertain gas.

JOFFRE SEVENTH MARSHAL ELECTED

(By Associated Press Cable)

Paris, January 14.—The most recently elected members of the French Academy, General Lyautey and Henri Bergson will, it is announced, be formally received here in the new year, after which elections will be held to fill the ten chairs that have become vacant since December 1913, the date of the death of Jules Claretie.

The chair of M. Claretie is by common consent accorded to Marshall Joffre, while Cardinal Amette is mentioned for that of Albert de Mun. The Marshall has adhered thus far to his attitude of passive consent without making the traditional application. It is said that the Academy will not insist in his case upon the rule.

Joffre will be the seventh Marshal of France to sit with the "Immortals." The first was Villars, chosen in recognition of his victory at Denain in 1712. In his case, also the rule requiring aspirants to declare their candidacy and visit the members to solicit their votes was waived. The other Marshals of France who were Academicians were d'Estrees, Richelieu, de Belle Isle, Beauvau and Duras. The last named, the most recent before Joffre, was elected in 1775.

A recent cable dispatch said that the French Academy announced that "having been sounded on the subject of the candidature of Marshall Joffre, it will show itself happy to receive in its bosom the glorious victor of the Marne."

"It wasn't a week after I started taking Tanlac until I was rid completely of sour stomach," said W. H. Fischer, 123 Garfield Place, Cincinnati. "I was bothered with sour stomach and heartburn quite a lot before I took Tanlac," he continued. "It seemed that I couldn't eat anything that wouldn't sour on my stomach but I was bothered that way more than usual after eating beans and cabbage. 'I had pains in my back and limbs, too, and they bothered me a lot, especially in damp weather. 'I was told that Tanlac would help me and finally I decided to try it. As I said, it wasn't a week until I started getting better. The sour condition of my stomach left entirely. I took four bottles of Tanlac in all and I can eat anything I want now without any bad after effects. I have gained four pounds.
